FIGHTING PLAGUE AT OSAKA CITY

Local Government may Use Large Sums in its Suppression.

VICTORIA, Jan. 11.—A few days before the R. M. S. Empress of Japan left the Orient, the Osaka municipal assembly held a meeting to consider a proposal to appropriate 300,000 yen from January to December next year, for carrying out measures for stamping out the plague.

Mr. Tomura, the mayor, stated that he had recently visited Tokio, and had seen the home minister personally. The home minister considered the stamping out of the epidemic as a matter of the utmost urgency, as the outbreak of the disease not only hampered trade, but it was feared might interfere with the holding of the forthcoming national exhibition at Osaka, which would be a great loss to the people of the city. The home minister, continued the mayor, had estimated the expenditure for entirely stamping out the disease at about 500,000 yen, which should be jointly borne by the city and the fu, the latter contributing 150,000 yen, to be used in enforcing the examination of the health of the people and administering the anti-plague lymph, and the city contributing 300,000 yen, which would be used for cleansing and disinfecting premises, and the destruction of rats. The government would undertake the work. In the event of the necessary funds being voted by the city and the fu, the home minister had estimated the expenditure for carrying out the plague measures. No action was taken at the meeting, a postponement of the discussion being granted; and as a result, the Empress did not bring news of the outcome of the proposal.

A notification has been issued by the Hyogo Kencho, announcing that plague has broken out at Yuasa, Wakayamaken, and that vessels coming from the ports of that ken will be inspected at Hyogo. A proclamation was also issued on the same day, cautioning the inhabitants of the prefecture to be on their guard against the plague, as the disease had not yet disappeared from Osaka, and had broken out in Wakayama-ken.

VANCOUVER NOTES.

Townley Chosen Mayor by a Large Majority.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10.—The elections passed off very quietly today, the citizens being, on the whole, somewhat indifferent as to the results, and the vote was consequently unusually small. There was surprise on all sides, however, at Major Townley's large majority over James McGowan for mayor, the former beating the latter by 549 votes, carrying every ward in the city. The aldermen for 1901 will be:

Ward 1—Robert Grant, H. J. Painter.
Ward 2—J. Cook and J. Neelands.
Ward 3—Dr. McGiligan and J. McPhail.

Ward 4—C. F. Foreman and W. A. McDonald.
Ward 5—J. Fraser and W. H. Wood.

License Commissioners—H. H. Layfield and George Bartley.

School Trustees—C. W. Murray, Dr. McGiligan and Thomas Duke.

Both by-laws were defeated—one providing for the closing of saloons at 11 p. m., the other for the one-ward system for Vancouver.

Capt. P. C. E. Lockhardt, nephew of General Sir William Lockhardt and correspondent for the London Times, who was a passenger on the steamship Empress of Japan, was with General Gaselee's column during the advance of the allied forces in China. Capt. Lockhardt says he does not expect to hear of any aggressive movement during the winter, but believes that the Boxer movement is far from extinguished. He holds out no hopes of the country returning to Peking, for the Dowager Empress is recruiting a large army at Hsian Fu, while Prince Tuan is engaged in recruiting an additional army in other parts of the country. The Chinese are well supplied with food, as the crops in the country are enormous. If the Emperor could be secured and placed on the throne, the Empress would still carry on the war.

The executive committee of the Anglican diocese of New Westminster met yesterday. The stipend of the incumbent of Sapperton and Ladner was increased $100 a year. The gift of a farm at Port Haney made by Mrs. Greenwood Williams, of Acton, Eng., was accepted. The farm is to be held on behalf of the Chinese mission.

The handsome private steam yacht owned by B. T. Rogers, manager of the British Columbia Sugar Refinery, brought recently from Japan and said to have cost $30,000, sank to the bottom of Burrard Inlet. She was anchored near the sugar refinery, and the enormous weight of wet snow on the steamer's deck was far beyond her tonnage capacity. She tilted to one side, took in a quantity of water, and sank. Messrs. Armstrong & Morrison are raising the steamer.

The audience who listened to Trebelli at the Vancouver opera house last night was not large, but very loud in its praises of the famous singer's charming voice. The local papers vied with each other in praising Trebelli's wonderful voice.

Brig Consuelo Attached.

Deputy United States Marshal E. R. Hendry returned from Kahului, having attached the Consuelo, at that port, and accepted a bond in the case of the salvage suit instituted by the owners of the steamer Upolu which saved the brig from shipwreck not long ago.

CAUGHT IN SNOW SLIDE

A Train in Colorado is Stalled by Fast Increasing Drifts.

BUENA VISTA, Colo., Jan. 9.—The Colorado & Southern train from Gunnison, due here on Monday evening, was caught in a snowslide at the Alpine tunnel, and has been snowbound ever since. A rotary snowplow from Como is on the way here, but it is doubtful that it will be able to accomplish anything, as the storm has increased, and the reports from the tunnel are to the effect that the snow is falling hard and being driven by high winds.

The train is a mixed freight and passenger. How many passengers there are on the train it is impossible to find out. Unless they are released soon, they will suffer from hunger and cold. The storm commenced on Monday evening, and has developed into a blizzard. All trains on the Colorado Midland and Rio Grande are arriving late in the city, and the Colorado & Southern, on account of many snowslides, has stopped the service on its line between here and the tunnel.

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 9.—A snowstorm has been raging at many points in the mountains. Two snowslides of large dimensions completely stopped all movements of trains. The storm has been heavy in the region of Tennessee Pass on the main line of the Denver & Rio Grande at Florence below Cripple Creek, and at Aspen, on one of the branches of the main line. The reports of the Colorado & Southern show the storm to be heaviest at Alpine Pass, where the mountain snow has accumulated.
